Description:

The impressive foliage of the strelitzia lends any room a natural, tropical elegance. Originally native to South Africa and the Canary Islands, the plant is a stylish eye-catcher - whether in the restaurant, office or living room at home.

The artificial strelitzia from Europalms impresses with its lifelike design. Without any flowers, the 110 cm high artificial plant focuses on its striking leaf structure, which consists of slightly curved leaves in a rich green. This gives it a robust yet elegant look that blends harmoniously into modern, minimalist living concepts.

Some of the artificial plant's leaves are inserted into shafts during assembly - a clever solution for space-saving packaging and reduced transportation costs without compromising the look. A simple gardener's pot ensures stability and makes it easier to insert into a matching planter.
