Description:

Under The Christmas Tree!

What would Christmas be without Christmas trees? Just like mulled wine, cookies and presents, the green color bringing trees go with the territory. With the two new snow-flocked firs, EUROPALMS is now offering more than just a simple alternative to the common Nordmann fir. Because firstly our trees are intensely carefree, as they do not ask for water and do not lose their needles anyhow. Secondly you do not have to buy a new one each year and that is not to be scoffed at. Moreover these products can really impress with their great workmanship and resemble their natural colleagues in every detail. Artificial trees that also do look artificially belong to history. Today the differences can only be seen under a loupe. And when the weather won't bestow you with a white Christmas, just look at the snow-flocked tree. Its sight will definitely comfort you.
